Senator Fred Thompson c/o
The Wednesday Morning Club

Dear Fred:

My apologies for not being able to attend today's event. I was called to London in a last minute in preparation for an upcoming film. Not being there today is especially disappointing to me because I was looking forward to personally thanking you for the many sacrifices you have made in order to serve this great nation of ours and for coming out and supporting our friends at the Wednesday Morning Club. With your help, and the help many like you, our government may once again be for and by the people, serving them by opening windows of opportunity and allowing the free enterprise system to work instead of hindering them with debt, waste, taxes and failed programs and policies. Your messages of accountability, responsibility, self-reliance, personal empowerment and strong families are all conducive to a happy and productive society and have my strongest support.

It is Americas good fortune to now have you in congress - and Hollywood's great loss to be without an actor of your enormous talent.

My best wishes to you, the Wednesday Morning Club, and my many friends in attendance. Keep up the good work. Our futures are in your hands, Senator.

God bless America

BRUCE WILLIS

P.S. You were great in Die Hard.

P.S.S. I'm doing a WWII action picture this year that you'd be perfect for... if you're interested.
